McMILLAN HEADS FALL GATEWAY STAFF; LARKEN TO BE MANAGING EDITOR

Burt (I cooled that one, boy) McMillan will head The Gateway for the fall semester. His managing editor will be Jo (I like Creighton) Larkin. Tho the battle for the editorship was close, Larkin conceded defeat because of "an awful schedule next semester."

News editors will be Bob (Hed-sked) Rassmussen and Joyce (I need some more help) Erdkamp.

Marty (It took me three hours to do this lead, but it's a masterpiece) Blacker will be feature editor. His assistants will be Bob (Ask Lee) Peck and Lee (Ask Bob) Peck.

Taking over the job of sports editor will be Frank (I'm the man for the job) Schuchart. On society is Lorrie (What's wrong with 'busy weekend?') Lemen as editor and Eileen (Yellowstone, here I come) Brown as her assistant.

Mary Ann (I've written a poem) Conley will be copy editor and head of the copy desk. Bill (The camera's alright, it's you not in focus) Beindorff is new photo editor.

Beindorff, Roger (Know any cute gals) Orr, Dorothy (I wanna play bridge) Hayes and Paul (I'm sleepy) Cherling will be copy readers.

PICNIC SITE OF STAFF ANNOUNCEMENT

A picnic in Elmwood Park this afternoon was highlighted by the announcement of the fall staff. Graduating seniors and W. W. Cliff, journalism prof deluxe, were honored at the event.

FIVE FAITHFUL SOULS MOVE ON TO GREENER FIELDS

Five steadfast people will leave The Gateway next week (sob) forever.

The first to go will be Editor Tuck (Huh, wha'd you say?) Moore. During his reign, the "old gray one" engaged the paper in a smashing editorial campaign and himself to a freshman coed.

Results were that the administration didn't know what hit it and Moore didn't know what hit him. Moore's job on the Council Bluffs Nonpareil caused him to make one last comment, "Why didn't you tell me they don't spell it Non Pareil?"

In his term as managing editor, Berk (My brother's working on the project now) Forsythe managed to write part of a novel and get a degree with distinction. Forsythe, who wears ear plugs when playing tennis "because there's always a racket around," hopes to do graduate work in the fall.

Those of the fairer sex who are leaving are Charlotte (Look, Brock's famous!) Weinberg and June (Only a few days) Williams. In their positions as society and editorial editor, respectively, the girls learned about all types of campus politics.

Also leaving is W. W. (I know a good joke) Cliff. The professor of journalism and Gateway's father confessor will take his wife, daughter, plants, fish, dog and complete line of "True Experience" stories with him to New Mexico.

Those students "left behind" sincerely wish all five good luck and fishing in the future.
